'Thankyou' shouted from the rooftop

Hospice work completed after appeal

By JOHN ANSON

"WE can't thank you enough."

That was the message to the magnificent response by readers of our sister newspaper, the Lancashire Telegraph, to East Lancashire Hospice's Raise the Roof Appeal.

In less than nine months, readers raised the £125,000 necessary to completely re-roof the inpatients department at the Park Lee Road hospice.

And this week the final slates were laid to complete the project.

In total, around 1,600 new slates have been put on the roof, with the latest waterproof membrane underneath, plus new gutters and soffits.

Chris Worswick, project manager for contractors J and C Devlin who carried out the work, said: "That roof should last for a good 75 years now.

"The hospice won't have anything to worry about.

"We managed to complete the project on schedule, within 12 weeks, in spite of the really bad weather we've been having."

Sharon Crymble, fundraising manager at the hospice, said: "This is the first time that volunteers and staff can remember not needing to have a bucket, or two, under drips when it rains.

"We knew that Lancashire Telegraph readers wouldn't let us down when the Raise the Roof Appeal was launched, and they did it in record time.

"We all know that times are tough for everyone, so for the Telegraph-backed appeal to raise such a large sum in nine months is even more impressive.

"The new roof will make such a different for patients.

"We are indebted to everyone who helped contribute to the appeal from the smallest donor to the largest."

Bethan's wheely happy!

By EMMA CRUCES

A mother has found a new lease of life after being housebound for six years.

Bethan Higson, 43, struggled to push her old-fashioned manual wheelchair, even within her home, and said she felt the world was passing her by.

She faced a wait of up to three years for a motorised version until not-for-proft group Hyndburn Homewise stepped in.

Homewise, who run the not-for-profit Shop Mobility, raised the £2,500 needed for a half-wheelchair half-scooter Rascal Turnabout so Bethan could rediscover her town.

She said: "I actually cried when Homewise came with the new wheelchair. It's fantastic.

"Now I can do things, like post a letter, or go to the cash machine to pay the window cleaner – things other people take for granted.

"It was very frustrating. I felt like the whole world was passing me by when I saw other people being able to go out and about past my window."

Bethan was diagnosed with spondylitis of the spine in 1992 but, over time, her condition detiorated and she has been unable to leave her home unaided since 2006.

Moving around her Accrington home, she had to use her foot to nudge the chair along, and trips outdoors were out of the question.

As she lived alone, she relied heavily on her grown-up children and nearby relatives for help with even simple errands.

After an occupational therapist recommended a motorised wheelchair, Bethan was devastated to be told it could be a two to three-year wait on the social services waiting list.

Bethan's therapist asked Hyndburn Homewise to help and the group were able to raise the full amount needed.

Bethan added: "I just hope my story is an inspiration to other people in the same boat and that there is help out there.

FREEDOM: Bethan Higson and a pal get out and about

"You just have to be patient."

Hyndburn Homewise raised the funds from two sources, The ACT Foundation and The Accrington Sick Poor Fund.

Tracie Hamilton, at Homewise, said: "We were thrilled when we heard we'd been successful in getting the funding Bethan needs. When we were applying for funding, I'd call Bethan and, of course, she'd always be home.

"Now it makes me smile when I can't reach her because she's always out and about."

Restorative justice pioneer praised

By VANESSA CORNALL

A probation officer, who helped the father of a peacemaker killed with a single punch meet his killer, has been shortlisted for a national award.

Geraldine Martin was a finalist in the national Probation Awards' Victim Services category for her work with the family of Padiham Ladies' football coach Adam Rogers, from Blackburn.

The 24-year-old died after being punched by Billy Upton in Blackburn town centre in July 2009 and banging his head on the pavement.

The tragedy led to the 'Consequences' campaign by our sister newspaper the Lancashire Telegraph.

Despite Upton claiming self-defence and putting Adam's grieving family through the ordeal of a trial, dad-of-four Dave Rogers took the step of meeting his son's killer in the type of punishment known as restorative justice.

Mr Rogers said: "I cannot say much about my meeting with Billy Upton because I have signed a confidentiality agreement, but I can say it was a positive experience for both parties.

"From my point of view, I wanted to show Billy the full impact of his actions that night.

"Restorative justice should be an option for all victims of crime. Many see this as a soft option, but it isn't. It gives offenders the opportunity to face up to their actions and the opportunity to say sorry.

"I know I took a lot of comfort from that meeting and I thank Geraldine for all her support."

Geraldine is the Lancashire Probation Trust's Restorative Justice Manager and the news of her success comes just as the trust becomes one of five Government pilot areas for restorative justice nationally.

She said: "I'm delighted that the work we have been doing to further restorative justice in Lancashire has been recognised."

Kevin Robinson, chief executive of Lancashire Probation Trust, added: "This recognition celebrates the excellent approach Geraldine has taken in restorative justice and allows us to increase understanding in the work we complete with victims of the most serious crimes."

RECOGNITION: Geraldine Martin, Restorative Justice Manager for Lancashire Probation Trust, is congratulated by Roy Male, left, chairman of Lancashire Probation Board, and Kevin Robinson, chief executive of Lancashire Probation Trust

Eatery's bid to sell alcohol in new market

A restaurant has applied to become the first premises in Blackburn Market to sell alcohol.

Butler's Family Restaurant boss Daniel Moffett, 26, wants to offer bottled beers and ciders and wine to boost trade in the restaurant, and on the new shaded open-air patio on the front.

The application is the first to sell alcohol for consumption on the premises in the new market and shopping complex. The two original delicatessens on the market applied to sell wine and beers as off-sales when it opened, but one never took it up, and the second has now ceased trading.

Mr Moffett said: "We are completing the paperwork for the licence application. We want to sell bottled beers and ciders and glasses of wine. There will be no draught, or cans. The aim is to offer an alcoholic drink with a meal, or if people just want a beer, cider, or wine, with a snack instead of a coffee, in the cafe, or sitting outside in the sun."

A Blackburn with Darwen Council spokesman said the application would be dealt with in the normal way by its licensing committee.

Deli-ghted at double award

By EMMA CRUCES

A family business is enjoying a double celebration after changing an Accrington pub into a foodie heaven.

The Paintins, who run the Black Horse Food Emporium, in Abbey Street, are celebrating after mum Kathleen was recently awarded an OBE, and then winning a national 'Loveliest Deli' award.

Since opening the deli, the family business, run by David and Kathleen Paintin, their daughter and son-in-law Louise and Martin Teese, and their son and daughter-in-law Simon and Natalie Paintin, has enjoyed success selling artisan bread, and speciality meats, to shoppers in Accrington.

Now the family has picked up the 'Loveliest Deli' title from international drinks company Belvoir, after customers voted online.

The deli success comes soon after Kathleen's OBE for her voluntary work. Kathleen, 62, is the founder and chairman of North West Network, and was recognised in the Queen's Birthday Honours for services to special needs education.

Teacher Kathleen founded the network, dedicated to bringing together North West special needs professionals, 10 years ago. She is also chairman of Hyndburn and Rossendale NSPCC and has spent 30 years supporting East Lancashire children.

FAMILY AFFAIR: Kathleen Paintin OBE

She said: "It's lovely, because I have retired from teaching so it was amazing to have my career recognised this way at the end. It's a great honour." The family, which also owns Oswaldtwistle Mills' Ye Old Sausage Shop, moved into the empty pub in November last year.

Manager Natalie said: "We've kept the signage virtually unchanged, but just put 'Food Emporium' under Black Horse, so we often get people mistakenly thinking they're coming into a pub.

"They are usually quite happy to stop and check out the food though, and people seem to love what we do. We were really happy to have had the support of our customers in voting us the loveliest deli. It's been lovely to get so much support and people keep telling us we are just what Accrington needs."

Shisha health alert

By PETE MAGILL

A single shisha session is 200 times deadlier to people's wellbeing than a cigarette, campaigners are warning users in East Lancashire.

To coincide with Ramadan, which begins on July 20, NHS chiefs have launched a drive to dispel 'the myth' that smoking with hookah devices is not as harmful as conventional smoking.

The Lancashire Care and NHS East Lancashire campaign is targeting Asian communities in Blackburn, Burnley, Accrington, Nelson, and Haslingden.

Vikki Livesey, a health improvement worker, told a public forum in Haslingden: "There are some myths going around about the use of shisha pipes – that because it's fruit-based, it's not harmful, and because of the way it is smoked, it doesn't burn the lungs, that it's not addictive and doesn't contain nicotine.

"But just like tobacco, it does contain nicotine and research has proved that it can be addictive.

"During one 60-minute session, you can inhale 200 times more smoke than a cigarette."

The health trust has teamed up with the Lancashire Council of Mosques to promote the safety message, amid concerns that even younger children are being introduced to the hookah.

Another health risk has emerged over the sterilisation of the pipe itself, with health workers fearful that sharing the hookah can lead to greater risk of herpes and hepatitis.

Children as young as 12 are being tempted to smoke shisha, our sister newspaper the Lancashire Telegraph reported earlier this year, and two illegal dens were closed down in Blackburn.

RISK: During a 60-minute shisha session, you can inhale 200 times more smoke than a cigarette, say campaigners

Child Action Northwest
Helping Children and Young People Well
Registered Charity No. 222533

Child Action Northwest
Whalley Road,
Wilpshire,
Blackburn,
Lancashire BB1 9LL

Supported Lodgings provide young people aged 16 plus with safe and caring lodgings in which to learn the skills needed to live independently in the community.

The young people in need of this service are young people leaving care who deserve a real chance to have a brighter future. Supported Lodgings can provide this chance.

Child Action Northwest are looking to recruit people in Blackburn and the surrounding areas with a spare room in their home to provide Supported Lodgings accommodation to a young person aged 16 plus.

All you need is...
- To enjoy working with young people
- To offer a caring & supportive environment
- At least one spare bedroom
- Patience & understanding

What we offer...
- Generous weekly tax free allowance
- Comprehensive training
- Ongoing support
- Full training to NVQ level 3

Putting in the time on crime

Paul Guilfoyle, 63, has played Captain Jim Brass in CSI: Crime Scene Investigation since its inception in 2000. Here he talks about working on the world's most-watched programme

60 SECONDS WITH ... PAUL GUILFOYLE

ARE YOU ENJOYING YOUR TRIP TO THE UK?

Yes, I always do. I've been over at least once every year for the past 25 years. I've worked here four or five times. I love London.

IT SOUNDS AS IF IT'S ALMOST A HOME FROM HOME

I love the tradition you have with actors. In America, people only seem to care about whether you're a movie star. Here, it's more like you're in a legitimate profession.

ARE YOU RECOGNISED IN THE STREET OVER HERE?

Yes I am. In fact, I'm recognised worldwide because CSI has been on the air for a long time and it's been sold all over the place. So, I'd be a bit chagrined if I wasn't recognised! The show certainly has a very big fan base.

DID YOU EXPECT TO STICK AROUND IN ONE SHOW FOR SO LONG?

I guess the answer is no. You never expect something to keep going so long. I've been in a couple of long-running plays, one for 15 months, one for 18 months, and that's as long as I've been in any other role.

YOU MUST ENJOY WORKING ON CSI

I've enjoyed doing CSI so much, so I just stuck around. I found ways to make it stay interesting. Acting every day is kind of fun. That's the great thing about it.

I GUESS PLAYING JIM BRASS MUST STILL BE A CHALLENGE

Yes, it's a challenge, but in a different way to usual. You're not facing the difficulty of crafting a new character, like working on a play by Chekhov, or a new play, which I have done in the past. With CSI you have the character and a way to pursue it, so it's all about keeping that character authentic, keeping it simple. That's kind of a nice journey for an actor.

Hottest stars in ice show

The world's longest-running ice show is set to Entice audiences this summer.

The Hot Ice Show at Blackpool Pleasure Beach opens today and runs until September, featuring 30 leading skaters from around the world.

The new show, Entice, features more than 100 spectacular costumes and spectacular routines choreographed by Stageworks' creative director Antony Johns, and former finnish champion Oula Jaaskelainen.

This year's production sees a number of familiar faces returning to the Hot Ice Arena, including Katie Stainsby, who starred in Dick Whittington at King George's Hall, Blackburn, over Christmas; Olympic ice skater Maria Sergejeva; and Russian champion skater Rusian Novoseltsev.

The show's producer and director Amanda Thompson said: "Once again Hot Ice is proving to be the hottest ice show around, with some of the best skaters on the planet.

"I am really excited about Entice, and all the hard work and showmanship which is going into this production will make audiences want to come back and see it again and again."

For details, contact the box office on 0871 222 9090.

Teaching Assistant

and Strand Leader Vacancies

Accrington Academy
The best in everyone™

30 hours per week

Hours: Term-time plus 5 days, approximately 30 hours per week.

Salaries to be commensurate with previous experience in their role, minimum £16,000 (full-time salary – this will be pro rata).

In May 2011 Accrington Academy was deemed as Outstanding for Care, Guidance and Support. We are now pleased to be able to give colleagues the opportunity to join this successful team. Experienced applicants are encouraged to apply for all the following roles.

Teaching Assistant Strand Leaders - Cognition and Learning and Communication and Interaction.

In addition to individual and group support, these roles will coordinate MLD and SPLD or ASC and speaking development support and provision.

Teaching Assistants

The Academy is also looking to recruit a number of teaching assistants to join our existing team. In addition to general support the opportunity to specialise in the following areas also exists:

• MLD • SEBD • Students with Physical Difficulties

Accrington Academy

- A popular and oversubscribed 11-18 Academy; a good school with outstanding features.
- Significant and rapid improvement in achievement
- Modern well resourced and ICT rich learning environments
- School of Creativity
- Sports and Mathematics Specialism
- New, successful Post 16 provision (top 3% VA)
- £17m extension and refurbishment continuing with new swimming pool

Application packs are available on www.ucstcareers.org.uk
Visits prior to application can be arranged.

Closing date: 12 Noon, Friday 13th July 2012.

ULT is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and expects all staff to share this commitment. An enhanced CRB check is required for all successful applicants.
